

KINGS in the city of QUEENS

WYAY AND SCHÖLAR

ARTIST BIOGRAPHY

Mkay and Scholar are an electrifying Hip-Hop duo by way of Charlotte, NC. Born Mark and Scott Jenkins, these brothers discovered their magnetism together while writing and recording an impromptu track at a local recording studio. They are a breath of fresh air for the traditional hip-hop enthusiast. Looking, sounding, and performing like no one else on the scene, they strive to honor traditional Hip-Hop while delivering a connectable “feel-good” sound and maintaining individuality through their unique vocals, style, and lyricism.

The brothers were recently featured on the Universal Hip Hop Museum's 16 Bars 4 Hip Hop Album. The artists featured on the album were handpicked to demonstrate Hip Hop's global diversity and creativity. Proceeds from the album go directly towards the construction of the FIRST museum dedicated to the preservation of Hip Hop culture.

The duo has worked with such polished producers C Sharp, Chris Beats and B-don at ICON Studios in Atlanta, GA. They have conducted live performances at numerous venues in Atlanta, GA as well as Charlotte, Wilmington, & Greensboro, NC. Their music has been played on Power 98 FM in Charlotte and their most recent music video, "That's Me" has over 16k views on YouTube.

With their forward-thinking approach to traditional hip-hop music, this magnetic duo has quietly become an underground favorite. There's no doubt that Scholar's smooth lyricism and Mkay's icy cold vocals give their music a relatable feel and vibrant sound to tip them into the mainstream arena.
